LRT project on budget

- First phase to be completed by 2018
- Provincial, federal governments have each committed $600 million

Changes to the city's proposed LRT line — including a shorter, shallower tunnel under downtown — will keep the project on budget at $2.1 billion, adjusted for inflation, Mayor Jim Watson announced yesterday.

Instead of digging 12 storeys under Albert Street as originally planned, the tunnel would be built one block north, under Queen and Rideau streets, making it possible to be built only four storeys beneath the surface.

"It will help keep transit affordable," Watson said. "By converting the most heavily used part of our bus system to LRT, OC Transpo will be more productive. Instead of busses clogging up Albert and Slater, light rail trains will be speeding by just underneath the surface of Queen Street."

Not only will the shallower tunnel save on the cost and uncertainty of digging, he said, it will also cut the price of station maintenance, make those stations more accessible and connect them better to the basements of existing downtown buildings.

STEVE COLLINS/METRO

"This is simply more affordable. It provides us with the surety that we're going to go forward really with great confidence."

SOMERSET COUN. DIANE HOLMES

"The public sent a very clear signal to me and council last October," Watson said. "Cancelling the last light rail project was a costly error. Get your act together and move forward with a realistic and affordable plan. Get a shovel in the ground sooner rather than later."

On Thursday, council will hold an open meeting where members of the public can voice their views on the plan. ● STEVE COLLINS

Brain, body show resilience in cross-Canada charity run

- Brain-injury sufferer raising money for Brain Trust Canada
- Still experiences headaches, memory loss, sleep deprivation

JOE LOFARO
@METRONEWS.CA

Doctors told David McGuire he wouldn't walk again. Now he's running across Canada.

A serious brain injury landed him in the hospital in 2005 and then cost him his job. He made strides in recovery physically, but he slipped into depression and struggled with bouts of short-term memory loss.

At the beginning of last April, however, he began running to raise awareness of brain injuries. On Thursday, he passed through Ottawa.

"If some kid puts on a helmet and avoids what I've gone through ... that is my ultimate goal," said McGuire.

However, McGuire didn't fall off a bike. His brain injury came one day when he was at work: he just passed out.

Doctors later found he had had a stroke.

"It went misdiagnosed because of my age," said McGuire, adding that by raising awareness about strokes and other brain injuries, he hopes he will prevent people going through what happened to him.

"It's all about preven-

Trauma facts

- According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control, brain injury from trauma alone occurs at an annual rate of 500 out of 100,000 individuals in the U.S.
- The incidence is higher in children, at 795 out of 100,000 individuals.
- 456 people suffer from brain injury every day in Canada. This amounts to one person injured every three minutes.
- Most injuries occur in males aged 16 to 24.
- Brain injury from trauma is the greatest killer under the age of 45 and the greatest disabler under the age of 44. It kills more children under the age of 20 than all other causes combined.

tion because the majority of brain injuries are preventable."

McGuire started his run in Newfoundland on April 1. To date, he has covered more than 2,660 kilometres.

He expects to reach New Westminster, B.C., at the end of the run by November.

► David McGuire takes a breather on Parliament Hill Thursday as he passes through Ottawa on his run across Canada to raise awareness of brain injuries.

Women's conference wraps up, bridging cultural differences

Women's World 2011, said to be the largest international gathering of women in Canadian history, wrapped up Thursday in Ottawa.

The conference gave women a chance to connect and learn from each other, one of the closing speakers said.

"People are connecting across (cultural) difference and across international, geographical boundaries to find commonalities in the issues that they're struggling with," said editor of feministing.com Samhita Mukhopadhyay.

TRANSIT

OC Transpo available on mobile web

OC Transpo is unveiling a long-awaited mobile website today that will allow riders to get live transit updates on the go.

Mobi, developed by company bv02, is already accessible at octranspo.mobi, said transit commission chair Diane Deans.

"Basically, Mobi is a web-based, route-information interactive product that allows customers access to valuable OC information using their smartphone or tablet or desktop computer," said Deans. "It will provide information like live updates on detours, the travel planner (and) stop schedules."

The mobile site comes after OC Transpo pulled GPS data about the location of their buses offline, stopping third parties from developing similar mobile sites or apps with open data.

► Redevelopment depends on a $9-million federal grant and $3.2 million in fundraising

After more than 20 years of waiting, Arts Court got closer than ever to a major overhaul yesterday.

The city's finance and economic development committee voted unanimously to approve a $36.1-million redevelopment plan for the heritage building, which includes a new three-storey Ottawa Art Gallery facility, a media-arts hub and an 18-storey private-sector tower development.

Arts, heritage and business groups all spoke in support of the plan and applauded the vote.

"I feel pretty good today," said Linda Balduzzi, executive director of the Ottawa Arts Court Foundation.

Traveller's spirit and Scotiabank support help Shanghai native start Canadian journey

As the operator of a Shanghai travel agency, Yuxiang Zhang had a love of travel that he put to the test when he decided to move to Canada. But when he faced worries about this colossal trip, he discovered how Scotiabank's multinational team and services can provide a smooth landing.

Mr. Zhang's personal journey began after he visited Becky, his only daughter, who had migrated to Canada in 1999. Seeing how she was enjoying her life in a friendly, multicultural country, he decided to become a family class immigrant.

"I was excited to join my daughter, but I was also unsure about the details, such as how would I move forward without speaking English?" says Mr. Zhang, who also wondered about practical issues such as the process to transfer money to a Canadian bank.

Fortunately, Becky convinced him to attend an immigration seminar in Shanghai, hosted by Scotiabank and The Cross-Cultural Community Services Association, where Bank officials answered every question, ranging from the Canadian job market to government services. He also learned about the Scotiabank StartRight[®] Program¹ for Newcomers, which includes a free day-to-day bank account for one year², a wide range of VISA[®] card options³ and a number of other customized services and benefits.

"Before the seminar, I was very worried, but afterwards I felt relieved, and it gave me the courage to move forward," recounts Mr. Zhang, who arranged for his Canadian and U.S. dollar bank accounts with Scotiabank, and applied for a credit card, while still in Shanghai, through the Bank's partnership with China Everbright Bank.

After landing in Toronto in late 2009, Mr. Zhang went alone to the Scotiabank branch at the Steeles & Silverstar location to activate his accounts. Speaking only Mandarin and Russian, he wasn't sure how things would go. Luckily, he was greeted by Isa Ho, Branch Manager, and her multilingual staff. "Surprisingly, it went well, and my accounts and debit card were ready, and my VISA[®] card came within a week," marvels Mr. Zhang.

Isa, a Canadian immigrant who speaks both Cantonese and Mandarin, is well prepared to serve newcomers. She often calls them long distance before they move, to help them prepare. "I tell them about banking options and what are the best schools for their kids," says Isa, a 31-year veteran of Scotiabank, who still remembers seeing donuts for the first time when she arrived. "When they get here, we answer their questions about Canadian customs, and explain about banking in Canada. Also, since many newcomers want to buy a home, we educate them on Canadian mortgages and how to avoid credit mistakes."

Today, Mr. Zhang is enjoying life in Canada, studying English and preparing to start a tour business for both Chinese and Canadian travellers. During an upcoming visit to China, he will tell others about the opportunities in Canada and "the friendly, open and trustworthy service I experience at Scotiabank."

That's good news for Isa Ho who teaches her Scotiabank team to "Welcome every newcomer with a smile, speak their language, and serve them with our hearts."

THIS ADVERTORIAL IS PREPARED BY SCOTIABANK.

With the support of Scotiabank's Isa Ho, Mr. Yuxiang Zhang is discovering a world of opportunities in Canada.

"Intesar helped open the door to our new start in Canada."

Higher-speed net launches in capital

- Rogers' LTE network goes live after Ottawa trial last year
- Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver will get it come fall

JOE LOFARO
@METRONEWS.CA

The world's fastest wireless Internet network launched in Ottawa on Thursday — but there aren't any phones sold in Canada that can use it yet.

Rogers announced its Long Term Evolution (LTE) network is live in the Greater Ottawa Area with a demonstration showing off faster Internet browsing and crystal-clear video streaming for those who are plugged into the network.

The company said typical download speeds range from 12 to 25 Mbps. Rogers won't be the only company

JOE LOFARO/METRO

► Rob Bruce, Rogers president of communications, announces Thursday that Ottawa is the first city to get access to its new LTE wireless network.

to offer an LTE network but it's the first to turn it on in Canada. Rob Bruce, Rogers' president of communications, said Ottawa was chosen to get the service first because it was tested here. "Ottawa is really one of the vibrant, innovative, technical communities in Canada. It just seemed like a logical place to be here."

Rogers has yet to sell a LTE-compatible mobile phone but promised such devices will be available from Samsung and HTC later this year. Impatient customers can get their hands on an LTE Internet stick today, though, to test-drive the network.

Pretty. Ugly

► This painting by Drew Edwards is part of an exhibition at the Patrick John Mills Gallery called Pretty Ugly Art, which opened last night and runs until the end of the month.

PROVIDED BY THE PATRICK JOHN MILLS GALLERY/FOR METRO

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder

Ottawa is full of pretty, safe art that's made to sell and hang in an office building — but that doesn't express anything real about the artist, says Patrick John Mills. That's why he's showcasing the "ugly" stuff in a show titled Pretty Ugly Art. It's on at the Patrick John Mills gallery until the end of the month. "It's some pretty art and some ugly art. It's a pretty ugly show," said Mills. "It's art that emerges from your soul. You're not trying to decorate your living room."

Stadium roof collapse kills one

TUBANTIA/CARLO TER ELLEN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

► FC Twente scheduled to host Champions League match this summer ► Friendly match cancelled

The roof of a Dutch sports stadium partially collapsed during off-season construction work Thursday, killing one person and leaving 10 others hospitalized, a local mayor said.

In all, 16 people were injured when the roof at the southern end of the FC Twente stadium collapsed around midday, said Peter den Oudsten, mayor of the Dutch town of Enschede where the football stadium is located, about 160 kilometres east of Amsterdam.

Three people were treated at the scene, he said. Two injured workers went to hospital on their own for treatment before returning home. He added that one of the hospitalized victims remained in "a very critical condition."

FC Twente chairman

Joop Munsterman said the entire club was in shock.

"You see this kind of thing in a disaster movie, but not in real life."

News video showed at least one construction worker, apparently bleeding from a head wound, escorted by paramedics.

Sniffer dogs and cameras were used to search for anyone trapped under the tangle of girders and roof panels behind the goal at the Grolsch Veste stadium. The search was eventually halted. Den Oudsten said emergency services were sure nobody was trapped.

The cause of the collapse was under investigation. Construction work aimed to increase capacity to 30,000 from 24,000 by adding a new tier of seating.

South Sudanese brace for independence

The people of South Sudan finally get their own country on Saturday, an emotional independence celebration few thought possible during a half century of civil wars and oppression that left more than two million dead.

Military parades and celebrations will burst forth Saturday in front of dozens of visiting world leaders.

But the new nation will have to face grim realities: it will be one of the world's most underdeveloped countries, only 15 per cent of its citizens can read and fears of renewed conflict abound.

South Sudan's independence drive was made possible by a 2005 peace deal between Sudan's north and south. Last January, former guerrilla fighters shed tears as they cast votes to break away from the control of Those who cast ballots include some of the 3,800 war orphans known as the Lost Boys of Sudan, who ran from the war to the U.S.

Major challenges include reforming a bloated and often predatory army, diversifying an oil-based economy, and deciding how to distribute political power among the ethnic and military factions. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Malaysian kids held captive

Man with a machete holds kindergartners hostage for six fearful hours

A man carrying a machete barged into a Malaysian kindergarten and held children and teachers hostage for six tense hours Thursday.

The man threatened to kill the children unless he was given a gun, police said.

The children were heard singing in what was believed to be an attempt to calm the man.

Finally, police shot him in the head.

The 30 children and four teachers were not harmed, officers said.

The unidentified man was in hospital in critical condition after sustaining a single bullet wound to the head, said Jalaluddin

"All the 30 children, aged between three and five years, and their four teachers are safe," he was quoted as saying.

A Johor police officer said the man wielded a machete and a hammer when he barged into the kindergarten in a residential area in Johor.

The man, believed to have mental problems, forced the hostages to go upstairs in the two-storey building.

Police managed to enter the ground floor and were heading up the stairs when the man attacked them with his weapons and a fire extinguisher.

Germany approves embryo selection

► Morality of genetic testing at heart of heated debate

After an emotional debate, German lawmakers voted Thursday to allow a procedure that looks for genetic disorders in embryos before they are implanted in the womb.

Lawmakers voted 326-260 to permit the procedure known as preimplantation genetic diagnosis under strict conditions after a debate that cut across party lines. Eight lawmakers abstained.

The procedure is sometimes used after in-vitro fertilization, when parents whose families have a history of genetic disorders want to avoid having a child with a lethal or severely debilitating birth defect.

Elsewhere in Europe and in the U.S., the test is often used in infertile couples who have failed in previous attempts to have children while using IVF in hopes that the test will boost their chances of implanting the best embryo.

While the procedure is permitted in other countries, its legality had been a grey area in Germany. Parliament took up the issue after a federal court last year ruled that a doctor who had performed the procedure hadn't committed any offence.

Under the law, an ethics commission will have to decide on a case-by-case basis whether couples can use the procedure.

An expert would have to certify that a couple's child faced a high risk of a serious genetic disorder or that a miscarriage or stillbirth was likely.

A large minority of lawmakers had favoured a total ban on the practice, with some saying that even limited permission for genetic selection set a bad precedent.

Debates on procedures that involve genetic selection tend to be tinged in Germany by memories of the country's Nazi past, but no one mentioned that during the debate.

Dalai Lama unites U.S. politicians

► Democrats, Republicans greet spiritual leader ► China complains about the official reception

In a rare show of unity, U.S. Republican and Democratic leaders found a cause to rally around Thursday, their support for the Tibetan spiritual leader, the Dalai Lama.

The Nobel Peace laureate arrived in Washington this week for an 11-day Buddhist ritual and was invited to the Capitol to meet with leaders of the House of Representatives.

His visit already has drawn criticism from China, which regards the Dalai Lama as a separatist troublemaker and bristles at any official recognition of the exiled Tibetan leader. The White House has yet to announce whether he will meet with U.S. President Barack Obama as he did, albeit in low-key fashion, on his last visit in February 2010.

The Dalai Lama recently gave up his leadership of Tibet's government-in-exile. Beijing accuses him of seeking Tibet's independence from China.

The Dalai Lama denies those accusations, saying he wants autonomy for Tibet within China. He remains the spiritual leader of Tibetan Buddhism. Thousands of expatriate Tibetans will seek his blessing during his current stay in Washington, his longest visit yet to the U.S. capital.

Lawmakers of both parties have called for the Dalai Lama to be received at the White House.

Anthony free next week

ORLANDO. Casey Anthony will be freed next week after spending nearly three years in jail on accusations she killed her two-year-old daughter, punctuating a case that captured America's attention and bitterly divided many over whether she got away with murder.

While cleared of charges of killing and abusing her daughter Caylee, Anthony was convicted of lying to investigators and sentenced Thursday to four years. But she was given credit for time already served and her good behaviour, and she was set to be released Wednesday. Judge Belvin Perry also fined her $1,000 on each of the four counts.

Adult sentence sought for youth accused in cop's death

The prosecution served notice on Thursday it wants a teenager accused in the death of a police officer crushed by a minivan to be sentenced as an adult if he's eventually convicted.

The Crown's position was put to the court during a telephone call to the injured boy's hospital bed, where a first-degree murder charge had been previously read to him.

The youth is accused in the June 28 death of York Regional Police Const. Garrett Styles.

The 32-year-old Styles died after he was pinned under a minivan police allege the accused was driving on a highway east of Newmarket, Ont., about 45 minutes north of Toronto.

The youth was badly hurt in the incident that killed Styles.

The Crown's sentencing notice comes at an early stage in the proceedings. The teen has yet to enter a plea and any trial is months away.

The couple's arrival in Cowtown after a private break — reports say they spent the night at a remote Rocky Mountain lodge near Lake Louise, Alta. — coincided with the kickoff to the world-famous Calgary Stampede.

Also Thursday, they were to tour a high-tech laboratory at the University of Calgary before attending a reception with host Prime Minister Stephen Harper. The couple will be given a brief bull-riding demonstration.

On Friday, they were to open the Stampede parade, visit the zoo, meet homeless youth, attend an Alberta government reception and lay a wreath before leaving Canada and heading to Los Angeles.

Park won't capture killer bear

Yellowstone National Park authorities will not try to capture a female grizzly bear that killed a backcountry hiker because the bruin was trying to defend its cubs when it was surprised by the man, a spokesman said Thursday.

The mauling of Brian Matayoshi, 57, was a purely defensive act, park spokesman Al Nash said, adding that Yellowstone typically does not try to capture or remove a bear in what he called "a wildlife incident."

It was the first fatal grizzly attack inside the park in 25 years — but the third in the Yellowstone region in just over a year.

The attack occurred on Wednesday about two kilometres up a popular backcountry trail and not far from an area that is one of the park's top attractions.

Paper shuttered in tabloid shocker

► News of the World reels from backlash over phone hacking ► Former editor Andrew Coulson faces arrest

The Murdoch media empire killed off the muckraking News of the World tabloid Thursday after a public backlash over the illegal tactics it used to expose the rich, the famous and the royal and remain Britain's bestselling weekly newspaper.

The abrupt decision stunned the paper's staff of 200 and ignited speculation that Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. plans to rebrand the tabloid under a new name in a bid to prevent a phone-hacking scandal from wrecking its bid for a far more lucrative television deal.

Mushrooming allegations of criminal behaviour at the paper — including bribing police for information and hacking into the

Fleet Street fury

- The News of the World sold about 2.7-million copies a week.
- The long-running phone-hacking saga exploded Monday with the revelation that the paper had hacked into the phone of Milly Dowler, a 13-year-old girl who was abducted and murdered in 2002.
- Police say they are examining 4,000 names of people who may have been targeted.
- Shares in News Corp. were up 1.6 per cent Thursday at $18.22 US on the Nasdaq index in New York, although they have fallen from above $18.50 since Tuesday.

voice-mail messages of celebrities, politicians and the families of murder victims — cast a dark cloud over News Corp.'s multibillion-pound plan to take full ownership of British Sky Broadcasting Group PLC, an operation far more valuable than all of Murdoch's British newspapers.

Faced with growing public disgust, political condemnation and bolting advertisers — including automakers Ford and Vauxhall, grocery chain J. Sainsbury and pharmacy chain Boots — Murdoch stopped the presses on the 168-year-old newspaper.

James Murdoch said all revenue from Sunday's final issue, which will carry no ads, would go to "good causes." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

► Rupert Murdoch and his wife Wendi arrive for a conference Thursday at the Sun Valley Inn in Sun Valley, Idaho. The Murdoch-owned News Corp. has jettisoned Britain's weekly News of the World, but many analysts believe Murdoch is merely trying to contain the damage from a phone-hacking scandal so as not to jeopardize his bid for broadcaster BSkyB.

Obama hints at cuts to social programs

A debt-crisis session among U.S. congressional leaders was "very constructive," President Barack Obama said on Thursday, but the parties were still far apart in their attempts to avert a default of U.S. financial obligations. He said he would reconvene the negotiators on Sunday.

Thursday's meeting came amid signs the White House was willing to cut spending on major benefit programs for the elderly, while Republicans hinted they might consider new steps to raise revenue.

Such a compromise could see both parties upsetting their political bases before next year's congressional and presidential elections. Democrats are already campaigning as defenders of social programs while Republicans oppose any tax increases.

The White House has also said the president is aiming for deficit reduction closer to $4 trillion over 10 years, nearly double the roughly $2 trillion that had been at the centre of negotiations.

► U.S. President Barack Obama meets with congressional leaders on Thursday to discuss the debt. Among the bipartisan lawmakers at the meeting were Nancy Pelosi, House minority leader, and House Speaker John Boehner.

Raising the U.S. debt ceiling is usually little more than a formality, but Republicans who control the House of Representatives say they won't go along without major spending cuts, and they will not accept tax increases, something Obama has said will be necessary.

"People were frank," Obama said, just moments after adjourning the meeting with the eight lawmakers who make up the bipartisan leadership of Congress.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spectre of debt

- Obama says the government needs to raise the $14.3-trillion debt limit by Aug. 2. If a deal is not reached by that date, the U.S. could default on its debt, which would likely touch off a global financial crisis and plunge the country into another recession, analysts say.

Bankers confer on Greek-debt lifeline

Banks, insurance companies and other financial institutions held talks in Rome on Thursday in their latest effort to get the private sector involved in saving Greece from default.

Though Greece has approved severe spending cuts and is receiving a 100-billion-euro bailout, many expect it will need another lifeline to avoid default.

Banks that hold Greek bonds are expected to participate in that second bailout, but ratings agencies have threatened that such involvement could force them to consider Greece in default.

Sugar at root of food price hike

Rising sugar prices pushed up global food prices once again in June after a brief lull, the Rome-based Food and Agriculture Organization said Thursday.

The UN agency said its price index rose 1 per cent during the month.

Despite the increase, food prices are still 4 per cent below the all-time high recorded in February.

It said improved weather conditions and Russia's lifting of its export ban on wheat helped contain prices.

However, experts have warned that prices are expected to remain volatile for years to come due to declining stockpiles and only modest increases in production.

A family's search for the perfect cottage.

The search for a family cottage isn't as easy as one might think. It's location, amenities, activities for the kids and more importantly fitting the purchase into the family budget. Everyone has a favourite memory of spending summers at the cottage and if you don't you must have heard a story or two.

The cottage experience is as Canadian as peameal bacon or real maple syrup and should be experienced by everyone at least once in their life. Sitting by a campfire roasting hot dogs, making "spider dogs" or toasting marshmallows, making "s'mores" is a rite of passage for any young camper.

As we looked into cottages we found it was quite simple to find something to rent but what about ownership? The thought of being able to escape after a long week at work would be great. Along with my kids having a safe and memorable place to spend their summers would be more than perfect.

After a lot of research what we found is, that cottages can be very expensive to say the least. Gone were the days when I grew up, where a $20,000 investment got you a family cottage on the lake. The cottages we liked seemed to cost as much as our home if not more, with some over four hundred thousand dollars. The more we thought about cottage ownership the more we realized it would mean two houses to maintain financially and physically. After all the whole idea was to get away from cutting grass and fixing things so I could spend more time with my children and simply relaxing.

"Fractional Ownership" cottages were affordable but they have maintenance fees and we couldn't justify spending over one hundred thousand dollars for something the family could only use for only 4 or 5 weeks a year.

So what was the answer? McCreary's Beach Resort on Mississippi Lake was the perfect spot for my family. Less than 30 minutes from Ottawa, McCreary's Beach Resort was one of the best lakefront properties we had come across.

It sounded all too good to be true, full ownership, maintenance free and activities for the kids...so what's was the catch? We soon found out there wasn't one.

After a resort tour, we knew McCreary's Beach Resort was the perfect alternative for our family. We got a beautiful location on the water, a short drive from our home and a budget-friendly family "cottage" that we own.

Ventura Resorts call them "Resort Cottages", the affordable way to own a family summer getaway. Neither a typical trailer nor conventional cottage, these 3 season homes are beautifully furnished and professionally decorated with "at home" amenities including full-sized kitchens, 4 piece baths and large decks, and you can get it all from $54,900 to $137,760. The Resort Cottages are available in one, two and three bedroom floor plans that can sleep up to eight people comfortably.

As owners we can take advantage of the activities and amenities the resort has to offer, from BBQ's, kids activities, the best fishing ever, boat rentals, outdoor pool and more! PLUS we can earn up to $10,000 renting our home out when we're not using it with Ventura Resorts Rental Program!

2 Jose Bautista. In an era of flamboyant star athletes, how refreshing is it that down-to-earth Blue Jay slugger Jose Bautista will not only be starting next Tuesday's all-star game, but also set a record for the most votes ever cast for a single player in Major League Baseball history: 7,454,753 votes.

BENGHAZI, Libya.

Moammar Gadhafi is loved in Libya's rebel capital — as a subject for street artists to mock.

Caricatures of the Libyan leader dot walls and buildings across Benghazi in renderings that range from crude sketches to elaborate satire such as Gadhafi being knocked around by a rebel-flagged boot or depicted with a Nazi swastika.

Before Libya's uprising, even a hint of dissent risked a crushing response from Gadhafi's security forces. Now, it's open season on Gadhafi in rebel-held territory.

For some aspiring cartoonists — and others wanting to make their mark — this means getting out their spray paints and markers to display their opposition.

Rida, a 35-year-old barber and interior designer before the rebellion, makes dozens of Gadhafi sketches each day. Some have shown him in a trash can or with his clothes blown off by a U.S. jet fighter.

"I cannot fight with arms, but I can kill him with my pencil," said Rida.

Can you teach the same dog new tricks?

A dog that went missing seven years ago will be reunited with her original owner after living for all that time with another family in the same Arkansas town.

Andrew Navarette told animal control officers that he let his Shih Tzu, Mimi, out in the backyard of his Rogers, Ark., home seven years ago, but when he went to retrieve her she had disappeared, the Rogers Morning

News reported Thursday. Navarette was unable to track Mimi down, even though she had a microchip containing his contact information.

Some time later, Kim Rafter of Rogers acquired the animal from someone in good faith, renamed her Gizmo, and has cared for her ever since. Meanwhile, Navarette relocated to Woodlake, Calif.

Last Saturday, Mimi showed up at an animal shelter in Rogers where officials found the chip and called Navarette, who had kept the same cellphone number. Assistant shelter manager Matt Colston said Navarette was excited Mimi had been found and said he would pay for the Shih Tzu to be shipped to his home in California. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Plot synopsis

The bosses in this movie make Genghis Khan look like an equal opportunity employer. Jason Bateman works for corporate shark Kevin Spacey. Jason Sudeikis has coke-head Col-in Farrell and his comb-over. Charlie Day works for Jennifer Aniston, a dentist who uses laughing gas as a sex toy. All are stuck in their jobs and fed up with the daily humiliation offered in their workplaces and decide to terminate their bosses — literally.

Bosses delivers the goods

► Richard Crouse and Phil Brown agree the premise of Horrible Bosses is a bit tired ► Despite that, it's a funny movie that induces pants-wetting laughs

Movie writer Phil Brown is sitting in for Mark Breslin this week.

Richard Crouse: Phil, of course no reasonable person would break into their bosses homes looking for ways to kill them, but this is a comedy so we'll accept that. Or will we? I thought the movie started off strong, funny and well paced, but its central premise — let's kill our bosses! — seems forced and it sucks some of the funny from the middle part of the movie. What did you think?

Phil Brown: Richard, I've got to go the other way. The premise of having a terrible boss that makes your life hell is sadly all too relatable for many, but the opening bad boss gags felt tired even with the R-rated facelift. It didn't click for me until the murder element turned the movie into a live action cartoon with a sick sense of humour.

RC: Interesting, I felt as though I was watching a funny enough movie marred by a silly premise. It's one thing to have some drinks and joke about killing your boss, it's quite another to act on it. I don't want to beleaguer this point, but the crucial set-up scene to me felt forced, like a weak lead in to a funny punch line. Having said that, Charlie Day made me laugh. A lot.

PB: The whole premise is old and they even namedropped two movies that did it better (Strangers On A Train and Throw Mama From The Train). I think we can both agree that things really got rolling in the second half when it deviated from that form. Charlie Day definitely induces pants-wetting laughter consistently and I think the cast made this movie work through an improvisation festival. The only problem is that comedy style kills narrative momentum and there was no real tension in the thriller aspect of the story. Though I suppose the laughs are more important.

RC: And there are plenty of laughs. I don't want to be Debbie Downer here. The movie is funny. It was cool to see Kevin Spacey revive his character Buddy from Swimming with Sharks, and if this doesn't wipe away any traces of Rachel left over from Jennifer Aniston's TV work I don't know what will. Now, I guess, she's America's Foul Mouthed Over Sexed Sweetheart.

PB: In my mind, she always will be. Despite the inconsistencies, Horrible Bosses delivers the goods and will always be the only movie featuring Colin Farrell doing a coked-up Michael Keaton impression with a comb-over.

A Pooh for a new century

► Disney gives Winnie the Pooh a more contemporary feel, yet stays true to the classic charm of the original

SCENE@METRONews.ca

Winnie the Pooh has Canadian roots. The beloved A.A. Milne creation, a pot-bellied bear with a taste for "hunny," was based on a real-life Canadian black bear that lived at the London Zoo.

Brought to the zoo by Lieutenant Harry Colebourn during the First World War, the bear was named Winnie after the soldier's hometown of Winnipeg.

It's fitting, then, that the new Disney Winnie the Pooh movie had many Canadians help bring it to the screen.

"It's like winning the lottery having worked here," says Alberta native

Brian Ferguson of his 21 years working at the House of Mouse.

His first job after joining the company was animating the company's mascot in Mickey Mouse's Prince and the Pauper. "It's such a simple design," he says, "but if you get a pencil thickness off in the proportions, it looks wrong." That's a lesson he took with him when drawing the classic characters in Winnie the Pooh.

"The people who did the first Winnie the Poohs were masters and the stuff they did then, wow," he says. "Even as an experienced animator I look at it and go, 'Oh my goodness, I wouldn't have thought of that.' It's subtle little things that make a character be just a little away from normal. It's the subtle difference between, 'I would never have done it that way,' to 'I would never have thought to do it that way.'"

Nik Ranieri, a Torontonian with 23 years at the studio, adds that while the classic look of Winnie the Pooh has been maintained in the movie, efforts have been made to update the feel of the film.

"When I watch the film there are some things in there I don't think you'd see in the old ones," he says. "Look at the character of Rabbit. Some of those poses and expressions are a little more manic, but it doesn't take away from the charm of the original. It just adds a little bit of contemporary feel to it."

For Vancouverite Clio Change, Winnie the Pooh marks a landmark — it's her first Disney film. "I think I was four when I told my dad I wanted to work here," she says. "He said, 'OK, you can sell Coke in the parks in a mouse suit.' Luckily it was animation instead."

When I ask her if all the Disney Canucks have their own table in the cafeteria she nods and laughs, "We eat maple cookies and drink syrup."

COURTESY WARNER BROS.

We take a stab at writing book 8

Several years after the fall of Voldemort — and the flight of the remaining Death Eaters to Brazil — newly Certified Public Accountant Harold J. Potter has finally started to settle down into a normal, almost Muggle-ish life. He and Ginny Weasley, now battled nothing more sinister than their first son's occasional dirty, levitating diaper. But one day Harold went on a business trip to the Ministry of Magic. There he was informed that, through a complicated series of risky dragon scale default swaps and unregulated wand sales to non-magical beings, the very economic foundation of their world was in jeopardy. Harold also learned that the new Minister of Magic — Harold's old Quidditch teammate Oliver Wood — had just been found murdered at Hogwarts. Harold's thoughts turned to Voldemort, the only being capable of such cruelty. But the Ministers told Harold the name that had been scratched into the skin of poor Oliver, and Harold knew he faced a new enemy. The name scratched into Wood's body, the ministers told Harry, was...Mrs. Norris.

The Hunger Games

Premise: Every year, one boy and one girl must fight to the death in a televised event, brought to you by the evil government in charge of the land of Panem.

The movies: The first is filming now. Jennifer Lawrence, Oscar-nominee, will play our hero, Katniss Everdeen.

Chances of it taking off: High. It's not corny, but clever.

Snow White and the Huntsman

Premise: Our heroine is cast out by a wicked witch, and ordered to die at the hands of a hunter.

The movies: Kristen Stewart leaves one franchise for another, playing a tough version of Snow White.

Chances of it taking off: Fair.

Percy Jackson and the Olympians

Premise: A kid discovers his dad is the Greek god Poseidon. Rick Riordan's series has five books so far.

Chances of it taking off: The first film made more than $200 million worldwide. ► SAM CASTONE

Captain America keeps name

Captain America will keep its patriotic title in most of the world when the superhero adventure hits the big screen.

Paramount Pictures and Marvel Studios gave distributors around the world the option of shortening the title of Captain America: The First Avenger to simply The First Avenger, out of concern about anti-American sentiment.

But the only countries that took them up on it were Russia, Ukraine and South Korea.

In other territories, the movie will go out with the full title, a sign that the brand value of the Marvel Comics hero trumps any potential anti-U.S. feelings in some parts of the world.

Movie titles often are changed in foreign countries for cultural reasons or because the original names don't translate well.

Starring Chris Evans as the patriotic super-soldier, Captain America opens in U.S. theatres July 22.

Zookeeper

Genre: Comedy

Director: Frank Coraci

Stars: Kevin James, Rosario Dawson

Kevin James wanted to make a family movie — one that would be stupendously inoffensive. He has managed to do that with talking animals in way — amazingly — that isn't actually as boneheaded as the premise sounds.

As a man passionate about his zookeeping job, James' character gets advice from his talking animals (voiced by the likes of Nick Nolte and Cher) on how to win back an ex. It's goofy, obvious, contrived and corny (there is a trip to TGI Friday's with a dancing gorilla, after all), but the humour is silly enough to amuse kids without resorting to toilet humour or sleaze for the adults.

With this box of chocolates, you know exactly what you're going to get, and that isn't necessarily a bad thing.

Music video guru and Thumbsucker director Mike Mills exorcizes some demons from his father's death with this sweetly melancholic autobiographical comedy. Ewan McGregor plays Mills and Christopher Plummer plays his father who came out of the closet at 75 before dying of cancer shortly thereafter. There's also a painfully realistic love story between the broken character played by McGregor and an equally damaged actress played by Melanie Laurent. It's a movie about life, loss and finding love despite neurosis and crippling depression.

Summer spotlight for Canadian TV

Season not just for TV reruns, but for new shows

Canadian TV is hitting full bloom this summer.

"You go on in the fall when all the big U.S. shows come and you get buried behind their promotional machine," says comic Brent Butt, whose Vancouver-set sitcom Hiccups returned with new episodes at the end of May.

"Maybe in the summer you get a chance to pop out a little more."

The belief that most people cool down their viewing habits when the weather turns hot is not true, says Butt, convinced that a sizable number of couch-potatoes exist year-round.

The fresh crop includes a new season of CTV's Flashpoint, premiering on Friday.

Film and TV star Paul Gross executive produces HBO Canada's edgy satire The Yard, also debuting

The boys are back

► The long-awaited Trailer Park Boys followup hits the air July 22 on Action, with Mike Smith, Robb Wells and JP Tremblay playing very loose versions of themselves.

► The Drunk And On Drugs Happy Funtime Hour centres on a fictional sketch-variety TV show that runs off the rails when the cast mistakenly ingests a powerful hallucinogen.

Friday, about the day-to-day struggle for supremacy between two schoolyard gangs.

On Global, the song-and-dance competition Canada Sings debuts Aug. 10, pitting workplace glee clubs against each other in front of judges Vanilla Ice, Jann Arden, and Simple Plan rocker Pierre Bouvier.

Those are all on top of last month's return of Citytv's Murdoch Mysteries, Global's cop series Rookie Blue, CTV's Dan for Mayor and the debut of Global's Combat Hospital.

The influx of new summer episodes comes before the lucrative fall TV season, when the private broadcasters typically stack their schedules with big-budget, star-driven U.S. simulcasts.

ALLEGORY. Movie star Paul Gross is the executive producer of the new six-part, half-hour mockumentary series The Yard, which starts Friday. It follows the day-to-day battle between two schoolyard gangs and mostly features kids between the ages of 10 and 13.

Billed as a satirical comedy, each episode is said to be an allegory for something going on in the real world. It kicks off with two back-to-back episodes. (HBO Canada).

FLASHPOINT. A new season of Flashpoint returns Friday with Ed battling for his life after being shot in last season's cliffhanger.

Meanwhile, Cle Bennett (Lost Girl, Barney's Version) joins the cast as a diamond-in-the-rough recruit and Victor Garber (Alias) guest stars as a hard-nosed military psychologist bent on disbanding Team One for good. (CTV).

A 'competitive landscape'

► Glut of new summer programs show how TV's calendar is changing

If September is what first comes to mind when considering new television shows, there are some 82 reasons to think again.

That's the number of new programs that have or will premiere on cable networks post-Memorial Day through August, based on an informal survey. That doesn't even include existing series that are starting new seasons (HBO's Curb Your Enthusiasm, USA's Burn Notice) or new programs on broadcast TV (NBC's Love Bites and ABC's 101 Ways to Leave a Game Show), because the latter usually aren't built to last.

Eighty-two. Something new virtually every day.

The deluge illustrates rapid change in the television industry: It's only been a few years that cable networks have actively sought to exploit the broadcasters' summer vacation to suit their own needs, and already some executives wonder if they will have to look elsewhere on the calendar.

"The competitive landscape every year just gets harder and harder for everyone," said Laureen Ong, president of the Travel Channel, whose new summer series include Mancations and Paranormal Challenge.

The new shows run the gamut. There are celebrity-based reality shows, featuring the likes of Roseanne Barr, Brad Garrett, Sarah Ferguson and Ryan and Tatum O'Neal. Cooking (Bobby Flay's Bar-

There are plenty of odd professions in the spotlight (tattoo artists, aquarium makers, tow truck operators and — ewwww! — the stars of True Grime: Crime Scene Cleanup).

Wrong as it may be to judge a series by its title, we confess to not setting the DVR for Ratbusters NYC and Hillbilly Handfishin'.

When John Landgraf, president and general manager of the FX network, brought The Shield on the air in 2002, there were a total of 35 new scripted series that premiered on cable networks for the entire year. So far in 2011 it's nearly 90, with half the year left to go, he said. Networks like FX, USA and AMC all learned over the past decade how one or two critically praised new series can transform their reputations, so it's no surprise others have tried. Same thing for nonfiction programming: History is one of cable's top networks now, and it's because of pawn shop operators and Arctic Circle truckers, not Civil War documentaries. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FOR THE LOVE OF STEREO'S SOUND

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONews.CA

Whilst out walking the faithful bull terrier, the Beatles' Strawberry Fields Forever came up on shuffle on the iPhone. Although I've heard the song a zillion times, for some reason, I heard the swirl of sounds in a new way.

When it was recorded in late 1966, the concept of stereophonic sound — dividing a recording into left and right channels to create the illusion of spaciousness — was still very new.

Eager to explore the possibilities, the Beatles and producer George Martin went crazy, separating voices, instruments and even different parts of Ringo's drums between two channels. It must have been pretty thrilling for those lucky enough to have new-fangled stereophonic record players to hear these new sounds bounce between the left

Today, we take stereo for granted, although almost no one knows anything about the technology.

Although attempts at creating a stereo (or bin-aural) effect go back as far as the late 1800s and were demonstrated repeatedly through the first half of the 20th century, applying the concept to easy-to-use consumer technology proved to be tricky.

An early effort to introduce stereo to connoisseurs of high-fidelity sound came in 1953 with special vinyl discs with two sets of parallel grooves, one for the left channel and one for the right.

Naturally, you needed two needles mounted in a special (and expensive) tone arm.

Then Sidney Frey, the founder and president of a company called Westrex, came up with a solution. Westrex made the machines that cut master plates from which vinyl records were pressed. Frey's people figured out how to transfer two-track stereo recordings from magnetic tape into just one groove on a disc.

On Dec. 13, 1957, Frey demonstrated his technology with an LP that featured Dukes of Dixieland on side one and railroad sound effects on side two.

By the following spring, sales of stereo recordings were in huge demand and musicians, freed from the limitations of monophonic (i.e. one-channel) recording, began to demand that recording studios outfit themselves with the latest technology.

By the early 70s, production of mono discs had all but stopped.

But mono still has its fans.

Old mono records from the Beatles (pre 1966) and Bob Dylan releases (1962-67) can be worth a lot of money to collectors.

Me?

I'll take the swirl of sounds every time.

Nelson was arrested in November after a Border Patrol agent said six ounces of marijuana were found on Nelson's tour bus.

Hudspeth County Judge Becky Dean-Walker told The Associated Press on Wednesday that she rejected prosecutor Kit Bramblett's suggestion that Nelson resolve the case by pleading guilty and paying a $500 fine for possession of drug paraphernalia.

Dean-Walker claims the prosecutor "doesn't do that for anybody else."

The judge says Nelson should be charged with the misdemeanor marijuana possession, which carries up to a year in jail. Bramblett didn't return a call Wednesday. Nelson's publicist declined comment.

Michaels' lawsuit delayed

Bret Michaels' lawsuit over an accident at the 2009 Tony Awards that the singer claims nearly killed him should be heard in New York where the accident happened, a federal judge has ruled.

It makes more sense for the case — which stems from Michaels being hit in the head by a set piece after performing at Radio City Music Hall — to be handled by a federal court in Manhattan, U.S. District Judge Dolly Gee wrote in a ruling Tuesday.

The Poison frontman sued Tony organizers, claiming the accident contributed to a brain hemorrhage that nearly killed him. ● METRO

CSI star Gary Dourdan was killed off that hit series and later arrested for drug possession in 2008.

Now he's in trouble again. After smashing into several parked cars back in June, the cops arrested him for — guess? — drug possession yet again, according to TMZ, which has now identified the drug: OxyContin, the painkiller known as "hillbilly heroin" because it's popular in the American south.

Police did not indicate how much jail time he would be looking at for a second drug related offense.

Mood food

There are nutrients your body cannot produce. Such nutrients, called "essential" and omega-3 fatty acids, from flaxseed oil or fish oil, are essential fatty acids. Studies show that omega-3s have many health benefits including the capacity to support mental health and improve mood.

Considering the mental and physical challenges faced every day by adults and children alike, eating more fish or supplementing with omega-3s could be a smart way to improve mood and health.

A beautiful combination

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA

Combining wine with anything but an empty glass has been called a lot of things — and not all of them pretty.

It's never bothered the Spanish. Their recipe for warm weather refreshment has survived for centuries as the popular red wine-based, Mediterranean-mixer sangria.

While styles vary, you can make your own version using an inexpensive Spanish red or a value-priced, fruit-forward alternative like Hungary's non-vintage Hungarovin Szekszárdi Vörös Kékfrankos ($9.68 - $12.79).

Here's my basic recipe:

- 750 ml chilled red wine
- 50 ml brandy
- 50 ml orange liqueur
- 250 ml lemonade
- 250 ml raspberries
- 1 orange (sliced)
- 1 lemon (sliced)
- 1 green apple (sliced)
- sugar to taste
- soda water (optional)

Combine fruit, brandy, orange liqueur and sugar in a glass pitcher. Refrigerate for an hour. To serve: Stir in chilled wine and lemonade. Adding a touch of soda water will cause a slight spritz.

- 6 slices Swiss cheese
- 6 slices ham (lunch meat style)
- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 6 tablespoons unsalted butter
- 1/2 cup white wine
- 1 teaspoon chicken bouillon granules
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 cup heavy whipping cream

FROM ULTIMATE CAMP COOKING BY PAT MAC AND MIKE FAVERMAN (ANDREWS MCMEEL PUBLISHING, 2011)

People are increasingly choosing budget-friendly camping trips over expensive vacations. But you don't have to sacrifice good eats with that small budget. Ultimate Camp Cooking boasts 80 fast, easy and delicious recipes.

Preparation:

- 1 If chicken breasts are thicker than 1/2 inch, pound thinner. Place one slice of cheese and one slice of ham on each breast, leaving 1/2 inch of space around edges. Fold edges of the chicken over filling and secure with toothpicks. Mix flour and paprika in a small bowl and use to coat chicken pieces.

- 2 Heat butter in large skillet over medium-high heat and cook chicken until browned on all sides. Add wine and bouillon. Reduce heat to low, cover and simmer for 30 minutes, until chicken is no longer pink and juices run clear.

- 3 Remove toothpicks and transfer to warm platter. Blend cornstarch with cream in bowl and whisk slowly into skillet. Cook, stirring, until thickened, 5 to 7 minutes. Pour over chicken and serve warm.

MIKE FAVERMAN AND PAT MAC

This is a traditional breakfast that most people are intimidated by in the woods. It's also a great way to take leftover food from the night before and use it as a breakfast protein.

Preparation:

- 1 Take some leftover salmon, put it in foil, and reheat on grill or griddle. Heat up Canadian bacon, too.
- 2 To make hollandaise sauce, combine butter, milk and hollandaise mix in medium-sized pan over medium heat.

Let simmer until thick.

- 3 Crack eggs on hot griddle and cook until sunny-side up. You may want to pour a little water on griddle and cover it so steam helps cook eggs to over easy without having to flip them.
- 4 Toast English muffins on grill. Put eggs, salmon and Canadian bacon on one side of each muffin, then drizzle hollandaise sauce across top and top with other half of muffin. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Phillies brace for Braves

- ▶ Atlanta heads into Philadelphia 2½ games back in race for National League East pennant
- ▶ Braves have won five of the nine meetings between the teams so far this season

DREW HALLOWELL/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Ryan Howard and the Phillies will take on the Braves this weekend.

Leading the division for all but one day this season means little to the Philadelphia Phillies at this point.

They're well aware the standings only matter after 162 games.

Still, this weekend's showdown with the Atlanta Braves is important for both teams. The Phillies are 2½ games ahead of Atlanta in the NL East entering their three-game series at Citizens Bank Park, and they'd like to head into the all-star break with more breathing room.

"This is a big series," manager Charlie Manuel said. "We've just got to go in there and play like we've been playing."

The pitching-rich Phillies have their three all-star starters lined up to face Atlanta. Roy Halladay (11-3), Cliff Lee (9-6) and Cole Hamels (10-4) will pitch in that order.

The Braves, on the other hand, won't have two of their top three starters. Ace Jair Jurrjens (12-3) and Tim Hudson (8-6) both pitched during Atlanta's four-game sweep of Colorado. Instead, Brandon Beachy (3-1) goes against Halladay on Friday night, Tommy Hanson (10-4) starts Saturday and Derick Lowe (5-6) takes the mound Sunday.

"I like competing against the best and they're pretty darn good," Beachy said. "It's a challenge."

The Phillies have the best record in the majors at 55-33, but the Braves (53-36) are determined to stand in the way of a fifth straight division title. Both clubs have relied on stellar pitching and each has overcome key injuries and an inconsistent offence so far.

"We've been winning some games and we have a good record, but the Braves are right there with us. We ain't done nothing yet, really."

Philadelphia is currently without two of its starting five — Roy Oswalt and Joe Blanton — and its top three closers — Ryan Madson, Jose Contreras and Brad Lidge. Five-time all-star Chase Utley was sidelined the first two months and centre fielder Shane Victorino and catcher Carlos Ruiz also spent time on the disabled list. Victorino (thumb) and all-star third baseman Placido Polanco (back) are both iffy for this series.

The Braves began the season without Jurrjens, and were without Beachy and Hanson at various points. Outfielders Jason Heyward and Nate McLouth were sidelined earlier in the year, and left fielder Martin Prado is on the DL.

"We're similar in a lot of ways," Manuel said. "If you look at runs scored and hitting, they're a lot like us. They've been doing it mostly with pitching."

DeLaet may miss Canadian Open with back injury

Graham DeLaet is unsure if he'll be able to compete on home soil at the RBC Canadian Open.

After sitting out the first few months of the PGA Tour season recovering from back surgery, the 29-year-old has returned to the sidelines with some stiffness and discomfort. It may keep him from playing the Canadian Open at Vancouver's Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club in three weeks.

"I just love that golf course and the Canadian Open is obviously important to every Canadian, but I'm going to have to wait and see how I'm feeling," DeLaet said on Thursday.

A decision on his status probably won't come until just before the July 21-24 tournament. DeLaet has played two amateur events at Shaughnessy in the past and considers it his favourite course in the country.

It's been a trying 2011 season for the native of Weyburn, Sask., who suffered a back injury while playing hockey as a teenager and has dealt with varying levels of pain since.

DeLaet elected to have surgery in early January to remove a portion of a herniated disc and endured a few months of recovery. He eventually returned to competition on the Nationwide Tour in June and made two additional appearances on the PGA Tour before withdrawing from the AT&T National last week.

Hamilton quarterback Kevin Glenn should take a lesson from Casey Printers, a former MVP whose big mouth and attitude had him punted from the Canadian Football League.

"It was Printers who over-reacted in a similar situation with the B.C. Lions two seasons ago. He was released and the former MVP hasn't been seen since."

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Glenn said, "It just felt like a smack in the face."

It was Printers who over-reacted in a similar situation with the B.C. Lions two seasons ago. He was released and the former MVP hasn't been seen since.

Quarterbacks are supposed to be team leaders, especially when everything goes wrong.

How they react to adversity is just one of the many ways they are evaluated.

Glenn was pulled in favour of backup Quinton Porter with the Tiger-Cats down by four points after the Hamilton starter threw his third pick.

He was back on the field this week, hopefully with a better attitude, taking reps with the Tabbies' first-team offence as the club prepares for the Edmonton Eskimos.

Buckin' Tough: If Winnipeg Blue Bombers fans are convinced the team is going nowhere without Buck Pierce at QB this season, they must have been terrified to see their star get thumped in Week 1. Although Pierce bounced back on his feet, Hamilton linebacker Jamal Johnson hit him so hard it knocked the breath out every Manitoba resident.

Pierce proved he's a tough dude, but the Bombers need to evaluate their pass protection to keep him on his feet.

Esks' ace in the hole: The constant recycling of CFL coaches often comes back to bite teams. The Saskatchewan Roughriders are a case in point after the Eskimos exploited the Green's defensive tendencies in Week 1.

Edmonton offensive co-ordinator Marcus Crandell quarterbacked the Riders and knows the patterns of Riders defensive mastermind Richie Hall, who is back in Regina after two years in Edmonton as head coach. Esks for 294 yards and three TDs.

QB Ricky Ray shredded the Riders D in Week 1, going 21-for-27

Kicking crisis in Calgary: Lose an import receiver or running back to injury and you can have a plane full of recruits in town overnight. Lose a Canadian kicker, as the Calgary Stampeders did last week against Toronto, and you really understand pain.

The Stamps are without injured placekicker Rob Maver (leg) this week and have added Rene Paredes, a player so obscure he isn't even a household name in his own house.

Paredes spent four seasons at Concordia where he converted 54 of 79 field-goal attempts.

The 26-year-old non-import emerged from a pack of kickers the Stamps airlifted into town to try out, including CFL veterans Jamie Boreham and Matt Kellett.

Pirates no longer taking on water

► A year after enduring 105 losses, new manager has turned perennial losers into National League feel-good story

One by one, a seemingly endless train of reporters filed into first-year Pirates manager Clint Hurdle's office on Wednesday.

Last season, the afternoon media session for a midweek game against a last-place opponent like Houston might have drawn a handful in this town where the Steelers rule and the Penguins are a marquee attraction.

But it seems like everybody wants to hear what Hurdle has to say these days.

An afterthought for virtually an entire generation, these pesky Pirates were only 1 ½ games behind the National League Central lead as play began on Thursday.

"There's been a mindset change in this clubhouse and in this organization," second baseman Neil Walker said. "I think it's a lot of guys, but Clint Hurdle has come in here and instilled confidence in every single

In stark contrast to insipid predecessor John Russell, Hurdle is at his best with an audience. He cracks jokes, but he's also not afraid to provide a stern hand with his players.

McCutchen was disciplined by Hurdle in May and left out of the lineup for not running out a ball in the dirt after he struck out.

But when McCutchen was a surprising omission for an all-star spot last weekend, Hurdle criticized those involved for the decision.

"That shows one way that he's supportive and he's behind us," McCutchen said. "It feels good to be

"That's the person he is."

Hurdle has recently spoken of the "joy" this season has brought him. The Texas Rangers' hitting coach last season — after being fired midway through his eighth season as manager of the Colorado Rockies in 2009 — Hurdle said after a recent victory, "I've had a lot of different teams, but this team is an absolute blast to manage." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dear FP, I am truly sorry for everything and I hope you accept my sincerest apologies. It was the best 2 years of my life with you. I hope that at some point we can reconnect. Loving you always CRAVING ANNE

To my SUNSHINE
Missing you, my timmies just don't taste as good without my sugar, don't stay away so long. Giggle YOUR ANGEL

O My Gorgeous Golden Prince, O my adorable thanks for tight hug and the kiss and how u put me to sleep 2night, as usual u were by my side. me up again looking for u... not for the 1st time ...come back i need your strong arms again :) love u. never leave my side... :) 12:40.

NEED ANOTHER HUG

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 20

You could get a bit touchy today, especially if you suspect someone is aiming to usurp your position.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 This is a great day for networking, for making connections that will be good for you in the future.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 You must earn more or spend less — or maybe you'll have to do both.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 You may feel as if you don't have a care in the world but today's cosmic influences may bring you down a bit.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 23

A lot is going on right now and no matter how many distractions there are, you cannot afford to ignore it.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 22 This is the ideal time to look seriously at what you expect from life.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 You will get the chance to impress powerful people. Seize it with both hands.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 There will be an opportunity to settle an old score today but you can and you must pass up the chance. Try using forgiveness instead.

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21

You seem to be unusually suspicious of late. Seriously, no one wants to hurt you.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 A feud simmering for some time will come to a boil rather quickly.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Anything that is petty will not only distract you but annoy you, too. Steer clear of trivial people.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. Try to tone down your act a bit over the next 24 hours — but only a bit.
